Just like the title says, what's the difference between keytool and keytool.bat? Both of them are located in C:\Program Files (x86)\Java\jre6\bin. But I still encounter sometimes that one is called and the other isn't. A: keytool.bat is for windows (and for command line) and keytool.exe is for *nix (and for command line). From Java 7 onwards keytool has been renamed as keytool.exe and kept for backward compatibility. A: This is from javadoc: The keytool.jar file is renamed keytool.exe (javadoc). Note: The Java 2 keytool.exe now provides the functionality of the earlier d0c515b9f4
